Charles Chaplin is at the Bijou today in "A Night in the Show." Hundreds in Clarksburg didn't see this funny picture when it showed here recently, so the management decided to bring it back. A three-act Lubin drama, "Nan 'o the Backwoods," and a number of "Neal of the Navy" picture called "The Gin Miners," are also shown.

Saturday's picture, "The Mystery of Room 13," with Marc McDermott and Lillian Hubert in leads, will be one of the best offerings of the week. The story is out of the ordinary and the acting is unusually high class. As usual, a couple of good comedies will be shown.

"I have lived for many years in Clarksburg," said W. S. Simmer, manager of the Bijou theater today. "In an amusement way I have catered to the desires of men, women and children of the city. I believe that they want the best. They have not been getting it. I am plunging on Triangle plays because I believe that Clarksburg will welcome the best in the new narrative art in which there are no 'Number Two' companies.

"At the Bijou theater all of the big stars will be shown just as on Broadway. They will be shown with all the effects and with an orchestra of merit. In short, Clarksburg at last has an opportunity to have artistic productions the equal of those presented in Manhattan. Triangle plays will put us on the map, as they will, I am sure, every motion picture exhibitor in the country who has the foresight to obtain them."

That leg which has caused Lloyd V. Hamilton several months of pain, is still too weak to enable the "Ham" of the famous Kalem comedies of the same name, to resume his old mirth-provoking stunts. Ham watched the filming of "Minnie the Tiger," a forthcoming comedy, from the side lines. It is likely that he will be able to resume work in two or three weeks.

At the Robinson Grand today William Fox presents Frederick Perry supported by a distinguished cast of players in "The Family Stain," founded on Emile Gaboriau's celebrated story, "The Widow Lerange." Those who have seen and enjoyed "Dr. Rameau" will be even more pleased with "The Family Stain."

for it is a powerful startling photodrama filled with breathless thrills, and Frederick Perry is the actor who is capable of giving an exceptionally powerful rendering of the leading character in this notable photodrama.

Doris Keane lately played in a new one-act comedy called "Catherine the Great," in a Russian benefit given in London, Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra being present.

Ralph Herz, in "Ruggles of Red Gap," a dramatization of Harry Leon Wilson's stories, appeared in Philadelphia and made a hit in the part. Louise Closser Hale, Jobyna Howland, George Hassel and Frederick Burton had the principal roles.

The holiday spirit has much to do with the unfolding of the story in the two-reel Universal photoplay "In Search of a Wife," featuring the handsome star, Robert Rawlinson. In the city John falls into the hands of an unscrupulous flirt and after a series of unpleasant experiences he decides to go home for Thanksgiving. He finds his happiness in his own family circle, for simple Mary, his father's ward, proves to John that she has all the qualifications of perfect womanhood for which he has been searching in vain.

'VARSITY PLAYERS WILL MAKE MERRY

Entire Squad Will Be Present at Banquet to Be Held Saturday Night.

The final chapter of the West Virginia football season, the most successful perhaps in the history of the university, will be enacted Saturday evening when the members of the entire football squad including both Varsity players and reserves, the coaches, managers and officials of the university connected with athletics, will sit down to a banquet to be given at the Maderia hotel by the university athletic board in honor of West Virginia's greatest team. The banquet will be but one feature of a big student celebration to be held over the success of the season. A big parade with band and red fire, and in which it is expected nearly 1,000 students, faculty members, and loyal supporters of the team will march will be another feature. The parade will be held so as not to conflict with the banquet. The student leaders are also planning to wind up things with a mighty bonfire, which will be kindled either on the athletic field or Observatory Hill. The line of march will be on Morgantown's main streets. Speeches, songs, cheering, etc., are on the program. The banquet at the Maderia hotel will be similar to the one given by the athletic board last year. On account of the large membership of the football squad this year, between forty and forty-five men, it will be impossible to have persons not connected with the team, present. In all it is expected that about sixty persons will attend. Stephen G. Jackson, of this city, a member of the athletic committee, will preside as toastmaster, and among those who will respond are Coach Sol Metzger, Professor Zera, Dr. Frank B. Trotter, Captain Carl P. Leatherwood, John G. Prichard, Gilbert B. Miller and the captain-elect. In the latter connection, it can be stated that the 1916 captain will be chosen at the banquet Saturday night. There seems to be little or no campaign for the honor, the men preferring to let matters take their course. There will be no nominating and the men eligible to vote will simply hand their sealed ballots to Director Eyle, who will canvass the vote. Among the men mentioned for the honor and who are eligible are Burns Webster, Harry Curry and Fred Chenoweth. All members of the squad who participated in two games are eligible to vote. The eligible list includes Colebank, Webster, Brannon, Lambert, Herie, Bailey, Hutcheson, Chenoweth, Hite, Curry, Rodgers, Leatherwood, King, Northcott, Stevenson, Douglas, Lattner, Hager, Allen and Biddle.
